WE CARE: Pupils at Brigdine Junior School raised money for stricken Haitian families.

Pupils create golden pathway to aid Haiti

JUNIOR school pupils in Windsor did their bit for children in the disaster-struck island of Haiti on Tuesday by raising cash for their plight.

Pupils at Brigdine Junior School, in Queensmead, Kings Road, placed a trail of coins on the floor of Marian Hall.

Years three to six organised the event to help youngsters on the Caribbean island, and wanted to do something every pupil could participate in.

A line of money was created, which they named the golden pathway, as each pupil donated some pocket money to the cause.

They raised £155. It will be given to an as yet undecided charity appeal collecting for the desperate country.
